Animal Intuitive Kumari Offers Animal Communication Training to Raise Funds for Panther Ridge Sanctuary, Dec 5 & 6 Participants will get Up Close and Personal with Majestic "Big Cats."

Wellington, FL, Nov 7, 2009 -- Animal communicator Kumari Mullin is returning to Panther Ridge Conservation Center in Wellington, FL offering a rare opportunity to interact with the "big cats" while learning the keys to deeper connection and telepathic communion with animals in a two-part Animal Communication Workshop on Dec 5 & 6, 2009.

A portion of the tuition will go to the center (www.pantherridgecc.org) which provides a home for some of the world's most beautiful and endangered big cats, exotic felines who were abused or neglected in their previous homes. Many of the species in residence at Panther Ridge are rarely available to be seen in zoos, and then only at a distance. Participants in these workshops will have the opportunity to work directly with leopards, cheetahs, jaguars and other uncommon breeds such as a serval and a caracal.

"Kumari will be giving you a once in a lifetime chance to be up close and personal with these great cats -- to look into their souls and hear their stories," says Panther Ridge founder, Judy Berens.

"Big cats are amongst the most sensitive, spiritual animals on the face of the earth," says Berens. "They are mystical, elusive and not well understood by many people. They generate feelings ranging from love, to awe and intense fear. Panther Ridge Conservation Center is dedicated to providing a lifetime home and superior care, not only for rescued and abandoned cats, but for exceedingly rare species who are here to be educational ambassadors."

Like many non-profits lately, Berens says Panther Ridge is facing declining donations with relocation being imminent. Without an immediate influx of support, there is a fear that any new location may not support the necessary equipment and room for these wonderful animals especially since moving the cheetah enclosure alone will cost approximately $25,000 and be terribly stressful for all inhabitants.

"Joining in this incredible learning journey will help Panther Ridge with their overwhelming expenses and you, the student, with fulfilling your potential to understand some of the most beautiful animals in this world."

Participants may sign up for one or both days of the workshop:

In Level I (Sat.), learn the essentials on how to quiet and focus your mind, how to get in touch telepathically with animals via thoughts, images, impressions and feelings; and to deepen your communion with all of life, as well as how you have already been "communicating."

In Level II (Sun.), expand your intuitive skills, journey for your animal spirit guide, receive powerful techniques to clear blockages, open to ever-deepening connectedness with all life, and receive personal guidance from Kumari.
